Reflection

What I have learnt from from doing this project is that the people with malcontent sometimes do not reach to the right means when they want changes. Hence, by doing this project we are able to understand and fulfill the needs from the reviewer of UTM Smart app from the aspects of the services it provides, its appearance, its functionality and so on. From my point of view, this has given greater chance to widen my knowledge about human's psychology as well regarding technology.

Improvement

The improvement that can be done for this project is for the due date. We were rushing a lot towards due date comparing to other students since we received the task a week before revision week which was hectic. My team were quite difficult to connect with since some of them are going back home for the week. However, we managed to conclude our job distribution and finished the project skillfully. I think I must reflect with what I can do in such a short time effectively in the future for other projects.
